

JOB ANNOUNCEMENT POST MASTER'S SOCIAL WORK FELLOW

The University Center for the Child (UCCF) and the Family at the University of Michigan is offering a full-time twelve-month Post-MSW Graduate Fellowship with an opportunity to extend for a second year. This is an advanced clinical training program that begins February 1, 2016 and ends January 31, 2017. The mission of this post-MSW graduate training program is to advance practice competency, professionalism, and leadership in the field of clinical social work and is designed for the pre-licensed clinical social worker.

UCCF is one of three centers housed at the University of Michigan's Mary A. Rackham Institute. The Center is a multidisciplinary, training-focused, child/adolescent/family outpatient center and is comprised of a multidisciplinary senior staff of social workers and psychologists, along with trainees in both disciplines.

UCCF serves a diverse array of children and families and utilizes a developmental, multicultural, and integrative clinical approach to case conceptualization, incorporating interpersonal, family systems, cognitive/behavioral, and biological/psychiatric elements. Services provided typically include individual, couples, family, and group modalities. The Fellow has an opportunity to advance and deepen his or her clinical skills using a brief therapy model, as well as an opportunity to gain some longer-term psychotherapy experience. Evidence-based interventions are emphasized, with faculty expertise in: early childhood interventions; cognitive-behavioral interventions for youth depression, anxiety, and trauma; Autism Spectrum disorders; parent behavior management training; emotion-regulation and mindfulness; school consultation; and family therapy approaches. Fellows will gain supervised experience providing diagnostic assessments, brief psychotherapy, outreach, case management, and crisis intervention. Infused throughout the fellowship are additional experiences in consultation and interdisciplinary collaboration, multicultural competencies, professional development, ethics, and leadership/administrative skills.

Primary supervision will be provided by licensed clinical social workers with additional supervision opportunities with licensed psychologists. The Fellow will have ample opportunities to supervise social work students and engage in clinical teaching as a part of his or her training plan.

We are interested in applicants who have direct clinical experience using evidence-based interventions with children across the developmental spectrum and families from diverse backgrounds. We are particularly interested in candidates with a strong desire to develop expertise in the assessment and treatment of Autism Spectrum Disorders (ASD). Specialized multi-disciplinary training opportunities are available to assist clinicians in developing the skills required to work effectively with individuals and families affected by ASD, including rotations in individual treatment and family systems work.
